Dear team, Our client has a number of standard reports, which we are using in our BI solution, to analyze daily activity. These standard reports are part of BI and we are using them in the Reporting Services web app. The data needs to be normalized because it comes from multiple tables in SQL Server. I've created a new query for one of the reports that we use as part of our BI solution. We want to create this SQL Server report from the database, without having to enter the data manually into a new table. Is there a way to do this? Many thanks,
